Girish is working as a Consultant - Rivulis Irrigation India Private Limited

Girish is methodical, very sharp business analyst capability. The system he brought to track the receivables & regular follow up was great, it helped organisation to recover from negative earnings.

Further he also introduced a proper analysis of different costs which helped the company to improve, also being better competitive edge in the market. I wish Girish a very bright professional career & good future. Girish is one of the most knowledgeable persons in the precision irrigation industry. He understands the product as well as the customer very well. His leadership qualities are outstanding.
